The Rokita Report

Office of Indiana Secretary of State Todd Rokita

From the desk of Secretary Rokita

As the leaves turn their different fall colors and the brisk cool air begins to settle in, Hoosiers are excited to have begun another holiday season. With that, there are many things I am thankful for this season and I want to share those with you.

As your Secretary of State and Indiana's chief election official, it is my duty to oversee the election process. This year's General Election proved to be another good showing of American democracy at its finest, yielding a strong turnout of voters. The numbers were slightly higher than four years ago with 41 percent voter turnout.

Moreover, the state saw another smooth Election Day and recorded very few problems. For the latest election news, I encourage you to visit the media center of the office's website, www.in.gov/sos, to read up-to-date information regarding this year's election. Among the latest news is the petition for recount in House District 76 and the contest petition for the Office of the Secretary of State.

Additionally, official results from the 2010 General Election are now available for all of Indiana's 92 counties. You can visit www.in.gov/sos/elections to view the official results.

In closing, as my term as your Secretary of State comes to an end, I want to express my thankfulness and gratitude for many things this holiday season.

I am thankful for the opportunity to serve Hoosiers and the responsibilities bestowed upon me as your Secretary of State. I am thankful for our men and women in the armed forces.

Serving with such honor and love of country, these brave men and women allow us to enjoy the freedoms we have today. Finally, I am thankful for you, my fellow Hoosiers. It has been an immense honor to serve you. Kathy, Teddy, Ryan and I hope you and your family enjoy a wonderful holiday season.
